TESTED BY BICYCLE SQUAD

Consignment of New Speedometers Received by Police Department.

Auto Chasers Sprint North and South on Upper Sixteenth Street at Varying Speeds.

Fashionable Sixteenth street, near Columbia road northwest, looked like a bicycle race course yesterday morning, when fifty members of the bicycle police squad sprinted north and south at varying speeds, testing a new consignment of speedometers recently received by the department.

A few of the intricate machines did not register properly, and they will be returned to the manufacturer to be regulated. Every bicycle policeman wishes to have his speedometer as perfect as possible, as the accuracy of the registers sometime have important bearing in Police Court when some speed fiend is arraigned for violating the police regulations.

Although the tests were made with a certain degree of solemnity, there was fun for the policemen, and at times humorous incidents elicited roars of laughter. Several portly cyclists were breathing heavily after making sprints up and down the thoroughfare, but when asked whether the tests vindicated them each declared emphatically in the negative.

The course was cleared by policemen on foot, who lined along the curbing on each side of the street and prevented spectators from interfering with the tests.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEE DIES.

John W. Wade Will Be Buried in Glenwood Cemetery To-day.

The Relief Association of the Capital Traction Company has taken charge of the funeral arrangements of John W. Wade, for many years president of the organization, who died yesterday at his residence, 3124 P street northwest, after an illness of nine months.

Rev. Charles R. Pate, pastor of Dumbarton Methodist Episcopal Church, will conduct the service this afternoon at the funeral home of the Capital Traction Company. Interment will be in Glenwood Cemetery. Mr. Wade was born in Washington County, Md., in 1853, and came to this city nineteen years ago. He entered the employ of the Capital Traction Company as a conductor. He is survived by his mother, his wife, and five children.

Milton Le Roy Gough, Mrs. Mary Stone Gough, Allison Le Roy Gough, and Eugene Gough yesterday petitioned the court to be permitted to change their names to Goff.

They claim that on account of the way the name is pronounced mail goes astray and much inconvenience is suffered.

MISS LA FOLLETTE RECITES.

"How the Vote Was Won" Pleases College Suffragettes.

At the meeting of the College Equal Suffrage League last night at 132 H street northwest, Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the Senator from Wisconsin, recited "How the Vote Was Won," the one-act play originally produced in England. Her portrayals of the various roles of the active young suffragette, the soft, stay-at-home young wife, and the cockney servant, were heartily received. The play hinges on a fictitious strike of every self-supporting woman in England at a pre-arranged hour. At this hour every working-woman leaves her work and obeys the Union's order to go to her nearest male relative and compel him to support her. Of course, this deluge of female relatives drives the men to desperation, and finally they go in a body to petition Parliament to give women the vote.

Parsons, the incumbent, who was appointed unexpectedly four years ago.

With large attendance the Rhode Island Avenue Suburban Citizens' Association met Thursday evening. Fifty-foot lots are the rule. A committee was appointed to represent the association at a hearing before the House Committee on the District of Columbia on March 1, when Representative Wiley's bill providing for a system of universal street car transfers will be taken up.

FRAUD CURB NEEDED

Secretary Nagel Gives Cause for High Prices.

ADDRESS WEIGHT DELEGATES

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Says Conservation Could Be Applied to Other Resources Besides Forests and Coal Lands with Benefit to States and Nation.

Uniform weights and measures mean as much to the United States as conservation of forests and coal mines, according to Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who addressed the fifth annual conference of weights and measures delegates from nearly every State, which began a two-days' session at the Bureau of Standards yesterday.

"There are many reasons for the high cost of living," he said. "Some of them may be charged to pure waste, others to greater abundance of gold, but I believe that short measure has much to do with it. When I find that in buying good wine much of it is in the bottom of the bottle in the shape of glass, I know just exactly what people are capable of doing. I know why the States are changing their description from pint to half bottle. One has a distinct measure and the other is left to the imagination."

Government Could Take Charge.

"If the States fail in sustaining the standards which the Federal government may establish under its constitutional power, then I predict that just as certain as there is a Federal government, it will supply the agencies and take charge of the whole business. It has the power, without any question. We hear a great deal now about the encroachment of Federal power upon State authority. I am not alarmed about that, because I believe that the States are waking up to the situation. But it would not be an encroachment. If the Federal government has the power to fix the standards, it has the power to say what shall happen if those standards are not obeyed; and that means the power to make laws and to send out agents who will have the authority and the right to enforce those standards and those laws with respect to every citizen of the United States. That is what we may come to."

The delegates consist of State commissioners and leaders of weights and measures and others appointed by governors.

Dr. S. W. Stratton, director of the National Bureau of Standards, is presiding officer.

Will See President To-day.

At to-day's sessions an amendment to the pure food law will be discussed, and also the bill to make it a misdemeanor to manufacture or sell any weighing or measuring device conducive to the perpetration of fraud.

The delegates are to visit the White House to meet President Taft this morning.

Following are the delegates in attendance:

Frank P. O'Brien, Alabama; Hon. O. C. Lodge, Arkansas; A. B. Bent and J. E. Field, Colorado; John R. Kenner, Connecticut; J. Ed. O'Brien, Florida; John D. Barrett and W. G. Wood, Maryland; D. O. Palmer, Massachusetts; Albert E. Sleeper, Michigan; C. B. Dinsford, Minnesota; P. P. Quist, Charles New and W. E. Hand, Mississippi; Peter Anderson, Missouri; J. R. F. Reichenbach, New York; Louis H. Lumsden, North Carolina; Capt. L. F. Baker, North Dakota; R. F. Thomas, Ohio; Henry Hagan, Oregon; J. Sutton Wall, Pennsylvania; William F.
